

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT TYPES

*Data used comes from varied collection and reporting time periods. Please contact your local school or district for the most accurate and up to date information available.

Zoned School (no transfers accepted): School in which enrollment is based on the student's home address and transfers are not accepted.

Zoned School (transfers accepted): School in which enrollment is based on the student’s home address but transfers of students from other schools or districts are accepted, including the children of district employees. The school may accept transfers from within or outside of the district.

Open Enrollment Charter School: A charter school that prioritizes enrollment on the basis of geographic and residency considerations.

Selective Enrollment School (Criteria-Based): School that uses some sort of selective criteria (e.g., student grades, audition, interview, portfolio) for enrollment determinations. Enrollment in these schools may or may not be based on the student’s home address.

Combined Enrollment Type School: School in which enrollment is based on two or more enrollment types.

Special Assignment School: School in which students are ordered to attend by a juvenile court, juvenile board, or any other governmental entity (e.g., residential treatment facility, Texas Juvenile Justice Department, juvenile justice alternative education program, disciplinary alternative education program).

Selective Enrollment School (Special Program-Based): School that uses some sort of selective criteria for enrollment based on whether the student meets the requirements of a specific program (e.g., stand-alone prekindergarten, stand-alone special education programs, stand-alone bilingual programs). Enrollment in these schools may or may not be based on the student’s home address.
